

How Human Rights Organization Fights Against Human Right Violations and Abuses

As we all know, violations and abuses of human rights & freedom especially affecting civilians committed by politicians in power and also by families, relatives, and religious movement groups are very common in every country, due to this many organizations around the world are working to protect human rights and freedom with the mission & goal to end violations of human rights & abuses of human rights and freedom and also reduce human crimes. Among these type of organizations, there is a prominent and active human rights organization in India called the sarvsresth International Human Rights and Crime Control Organization (SIHRUCCO) which is an autonomous, voluntary, non-governmental, non-discriminatory, non-profit organization aimed at protecting the human rights and freedom of India's marginalized and left-behind communities. It is the organization which fights for the rights of human.

This human rights organization is mainly aimed and committed to work for protecting human rights and to end human right violations all over India for both Indians & non-Indians staying in India, and also to play important role in crime control, this international crime control and human rights was based in New Delhi, India working with their partners in many countries under global approach, all for the purpose of protecting human rights. Globally defenders of human rights mostly were citizens of a country which the organization is based and were not government officials.

The Mission and Goals of Sarvsresth International human rights and crime control organization

The main mission of this organization is to work according to global human right principles to stand for human rights and social rights and the organization is made up of people and served by the people, in addition many human right violation victims that is those people who have been suffering from abuse or violation of their rights as humans are being taken care by this organization, it doesn't matter where you came from in this country because the motto of this organization is to serve everyone with all their abilities for those who reach out to SIHRUCCO.

The main goal of this organization is to keep fighting for eradication of the root cause of life for being human valuable, solving all basic problems lies under the educational system like general education, social education, medical education, and legal education and as result shown that was pointed out the basic reasons people suffering from this, is because of lack of well trained from various social problems such as early marriage of girls, poor hygiene, poor living conditions and other problems.

Roles that human right defenders like SIHRUCCO play in our society, actually these human right defenders are playing huge vital roles for standing and defending our rights and freedom to live as humans with full freedom without any abuse or violating of our rights from powerful people in our country like politicians, rich, and those who are officially in power, we all want to live and enjoy our living in our proud country as Indians without any disturbance and have freedom to move, express our views in our country's politics and internal affairs because our constitution is not based on communism but is on democracy as we can see in some country and even our country, sometimes our political leaders come up with law and order that will cause harm for our well-being and happiness but benefit them but if we express our concern no one will listen to us, so in this type of cases of violating human right for expression, human right defenders play their role in pressurising and forcing government officials not to violate or abuse human rights in taking any action that citizens of a country express their view of not interested or expressed that it will be to them especially if it is harming them.

This human right organization is constantly working in India with aim of crime control due to high percentage of commitment of crimes daily, starting from conflicts, raping, domestic violence, and dowry problems which used to happen in India daily. So this human rights defenders are always active and working to control and solve this issues and crimes which is necessary to do to end human right violations and reduce crimes

Meanwhile, this organization is having its main branch here in Lucknow and is located at 25/110, First Floor, Indira Nagar, Near Smriti Vihar Park, Lucknow –

226016, you can contact them through their contact: 98399 65569 or 93353 70927 and you can reach them via email address: sihruccio@gmail.com for any issue try to reach out to them for any help.